Housing Services

Westside Housing

Westside provides low cost rental housing to people on very low incomes who are vulnerable.

Homes are located across the South Australian metropolitan area.

Westside has a longstanding focus in the western and northern suburbs. However, we provide housing from Aldinga in the south across the Adelaide Hills to Andrews Farm in the north.

Types of housing

Community housing

Community housing is one of a number of affordable rental housing options in South Australia.

Westside manages 300 community housing homes for people in immediate financial need. Referrals for these homes are received from a variety of support agencies.

Homelessness supportive housing (Stimulus)

Westside owns 34 homes under this program. These homes accommodate very vulnerable people experiencing homelessness and referrals are received via designated homeless support agencies.

Emergency housing

Westside is not able to provide emergency housing or support for homelessness, but you can get help by calling one of the following:

- If you are homeless or at risk of becoming homeless 1800 003 308, (freecall from a landline)
- If you are aged between 15 and 25 call 1300 306 046 or 1800 807 364
- If you are escaping domestic or family violence call 1300 782 200 or 1800 800 098

If you want to speak with a particular homelessness service provider you can contact the one in your area. To locate them go to www.sa.gov.au and search on 'Accessing services in crisis situations'.

“Better housing to reduce homelessness”

Westside's focus is on building a stronger sense of community and improving social outcomes for the places and people we work with.
